Dear colleagues,

A short personal experience report with regard to the ventilation and air cleaning problem in the waiting room. Air cleaning devices with constant filter changes or filter cleaning were too expensive for me, especially since the filters are contaminated with viruses, and I couldn't really ensure ventilation in the waiting room due to my already overloaded employees.

I compared a lot and then decided on a UV-C device (MAC500) from the Danish company
JIMCO - www.jimco.de

It is small, works very quietly with UVC / ozone, safe and tested, the latest test results speak for themselves. The air quality, regardless of the proven reduction in the number of bacteria, is very good and my patients very often comment positively.

The cost is approx. 500 euros (sales and service via info@odrei-luftreinigung.com, local company.
